THE INDUSTRY DESK

Fresh movement. Real reasons to stay ready.

This week’s renewal and production news gives actors concrete projects and markets to watch. Here is what is moving and why it matters.

01 / REASONS TO KEEP GOING

SERIES ORDER

Crazy Rich Asians gets eight episodes

HBO has ordered an eight episode Crazy Rich Asians drama, with Constance Wu, Henry Golding and Ronny Chieng among the returning cast. A series order puts a new ensemble production into the pipeline. For actors, this is a world to research as it moves toward production; new roles and shoot dates have not been announced.

Deadline · October 8

RENEWAL

A new chapter for Imperfect Women

Apple has renewed Imperfect Women for Season 2, centered on Kerry Washington’s Eleanor. The new story is set on Martha’s Vineyard, opening a different chapter for the thriller. Another season means another production cycle to watch. CastingAbout currently lists the project On Hiatus, so this is future momentum rather than an active casting lead.

Deadline · October 5

CAMERAS ROLLING

Quitters is filming in Utah

Craig Ferguson and Megyn Price lead Quitters, an eight episode dramedy now in production in Utah. Its recovery center setting brings an ensemble story to the screen. Cameras rolling on a new scripted series is encouraging, tangible activity for actors to follow. Union status and open roles were not verified for this news item.

Deadline · October 9

Future casting needs are our interpretation. News announcements do not establish open auditions or full industry recovery.

YOUR MOVE THIS WEEK

Pick one project from the directory. Learn its tone, then tell your rep why it fits your casting. If you do not have representation, research the project and prepare a scene in that lane. Use an authorized route when a suitable breakdown becomes available.

THE 60 SECOND TAPE FIX

Choose what you need from your scene partner. Run a short scene with our AI reader in the Dr Self Tape app. Try one take where you persuade and another where you reassure. Listen between lines. Watch both once and keep the choice that makes the relationship feel most alive.
